HOF'er Profile: Ed G. Austin

Ed Austin was inducted into the Hall of Fame in 2007. He was one of the founding members of the Los Angeles Valley College student body called "The Pioneers." He was also one of the most heralded athletes in early Valley College history lettering five times over two years in three sports including Track & Field, Football, and Basketball. Austin professes that he excelled the most in track and field having competed in the 440, 4 x 440 relay, and the high jump, where he jumped 6'3 1/2 in 1951, the second highest in the United States at that time.

Ed has also been a continuous donor to the Hall of Fame program and the Athletic Endowment. We asked Ed to write about what he enjoyed about Valley College then and now.

In 1949 L.A. Valley Junior College opened for business and students from the five valley high schools, plus high schools from through out Los Angeles and out of state, soon became a family. It did not take long for the several hundred students to become friends.

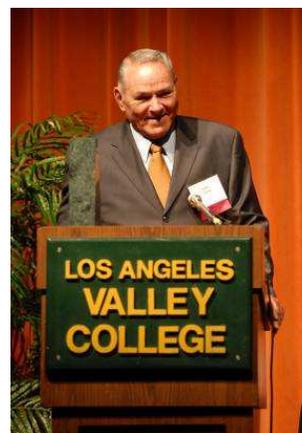

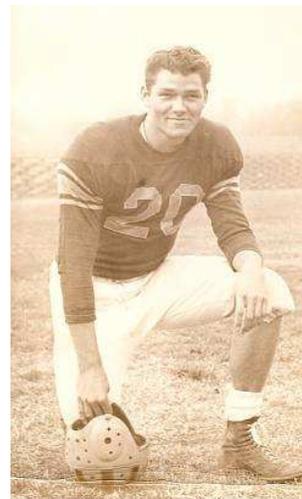

Even though we were an annex to Van

Nuys High School we were all on the same adventure. The classes were not overly crowded so we were able to communicate with the instructors very easily.

We were truly pioneers. Now when I am on the Valley campus, I can't help but look back at the beginning of the present campus. We made do with some unusual classrooms. They were bungalows and houses. Health classes were held in a glass hot house. Each school club was allowed a house for their meetings. The Spanish Club had a house with a swimming pool. Needless to say they had a large membership. I spent many nights at the Letterman house studying algebra so I could pass Phil Clark's class.

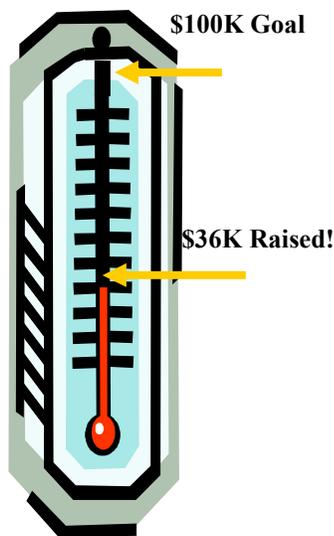

It was a wonderful time in my life. During basketball season we had the opportunity to play Pierce College, which had also just opened (we won most of the games). And in track we were scheduled with another new school, Harbor College.

When I see the current Valley College track facility, it brings back memories of the time when the track team helped Jim Slosson and Phil Clark sur-

Athletic Endowment Campaign Update

Over $36,000 has been pledged and raised for the Athletic Endowment Campaign. The goal is to raise $100,000 in the next three years. The purpose of the Athletic Endowment is to provide supplemental revenue for Athletic Department help cover expenses such as equipment, supplies, staffing, travel, and food.

The Athletic Endowment Advisory Board was formed two years ago to oversee the fundraising campaign. The Advisory Board, which is made up of Valley College alumni who were student athletes or involved with athletics cite that this endowment is very important to Athletics and Valley College!

"While we are grateful for the donations received thus far, we are a long way from achieving our goal," said Endowment Chair Phil Mundy.

"We implore everyone to support and contribute to the endowment including Hall of Famers, alumni, and anyone associated with LAVC Athletics at one time or another. With a $100 annual donation, you can become a member of the Green & Gold Club. Donations can also be made in increments through out the year if you prefer.

There are a number of ways to donate including online by way of the LAVC Foundation at www.lavcfoundation.org or calling (818) 947-2618.

Profiles in LAVC Athletics: Women's Head Basketball Coach Monica Hang

Born in Santa Ana, California in 1981, Coach Hang entered her first season as head coach for the Monarchs' women's basketball program. Hang came to LAVC from Glendale Community College, where she built that program into one of the more successful ones in Southern California. During Hang's coaching journey, she has helped many of her athletes move forward to the four-year level to continue their education and/or their basketball career. Some of her athletes have transferred to such notable schools as the University of California-Los Angeles, San Diego Christian University, California State University of Monterey Bay, Hawaii Pacific University, Fresno Pacific University, Occidental College and Culver-Stockton College in Missouri, arriving on athletic or academic scholarships. Hang plans to do the same thing with her student-athletes at Valley College.

As a player, Hang was the starting point guard on the Mark Keppel High School varsity basketball team as a freshman. In 1998, she received Almont League MVP, Pasadena Star News San Gabriel Valley All-West Player of the Year, LA Times San Gabriel Valley (East & West) Top Eight, and First Team All-CIF. After graduating from Mark Keppel, she went on to play basketball at Ventura College under the highly touted Ned Mircetic. As the point guard, she led her team to Back-to-Back to Back state championships from 2000-2002 and was an All-Conference and All-State Tournament selection.

After earning her associate's degree from Ventura College in 2002, Hang then transferred to Cumberland College in Kentucky on a full athletic scholarship. At Cumberland, she led her team to the Mid-South Conference Championship and an appearance at the Nationals. Still today, her 2003-04 team holds the school's best record at 28-4. Coach Hang was a two-time NAIA Scholar Athlete as well as a First Team and Academic All-Conference selection.

Hang earned a Bachelor's degree in Movement and Leisure Studies from Cumberland College in 2004. She received her Master's degree in Physical Education with an emphasis in teaching from California State of Los Angeles, CA in 2006.

vey the track, which was in a field of weeds. We put stakes in the ground where the inside of the track was to be. We then took a tractor and scrapped in the new Valley College track. The track today is close to the same location.

I'm still in touch with many of the former Valley Pioneers and most of them went on to higher education and have had very successful careers. Attending Valley College was one of the best times of my life. Being inducted into the Hall of Fame was the "icing on the cake." It was a very special event for my family and me. I thank those responsible for this honor.

For the past few years, I have made a financial donation to Valley. I highly encourage all those that have attended Valley College to make a financial contribution. If you can't make a contribution, at least stop by and check out the facilities and some of the many functions.
